

Prutsanai Mahakkapong (Patrick Joe) and Ramanya Chudatamee (Joyce Joe)

Business Owners

Amway qualification – New Platinum (Australia)

In the 10 years that Patrick and Joyce have been with Amway, this magnetic young couple have taken on the world and built a global business that operates in more than 20 countries. Now just in their early 30s, they are truly living the dream of so many in their generation – international travel, wealth, freedom and much more to come.

Their story began as they finished university. Both Joyce and Patrick graduated in computer engineering and began a business exporting hydroponic vegetables, however, it wasn't moving the way they liked. It was then that they discovered Amway, when Joyce was 21 and Patrick was 24.

"This business really spoke to our hearts. We have big goals and a big future because we want to help a lot of people," Patrick explains. He continues, "After we'd been informed about the business plan and products, we saw the potential to create businesses that can grow around the world".

So they started their Amway business in Thailand in 2002 and achieved success in the years that followed. They expanded to the Philippines in 2008 and the USA in 2009. Business flourished and they enjoyed a luxurious jet-setting lifestyle. Along the way they inspired many others. In fact, social media plays a big role in their success, with Patrick's Facebook page enjoying over 10,000 'likes' from fans.

"The great thing we've received from this business is freedom. We travel around the world, we can stay in any hotels and drive any cars we want. We've been living in hotels for 3 years! It's great to create our own lifestyle."

Recently, this dynamic duo set their sights on Australia and New Zealand, and their business has now been extended here, making it a truly international enterprise.